

Water Connections Working Group reviews project ranking

October 22, 2009

The third meeting of the Cascade Water Connections working group was held September 10th. The 25 members who attended reviewed ranking scenarios of various projects and looked at comparison of rankings, looking at quadrant analysis of the projects, and considered recommendations and next steps.

The input from this meeting was presented at the Resource Management Committee, which met later that day.

The Connections Working Group agreed that the top ranked projects overall should be forwarded for more in-depth analysis and the low ranking projects be taken off the list of potential supply projects at this time.

The group will meet again in December to review portfolios of projects that will be presented to the Resource Management Committee and the board. The final product of this group will be a report of their work to Cascade's board of directors.

For more information on the Cascade Water Connections Working Group and to view Working Group presentations go to the Connections Working Group page

September 10 Water Connections Working Group

Water for today...
and tomorrow